

Here in my heart

a song by The Bookshop Band

inspired by The Last Summer of Us, by Maggie Harcourt

Here, in this car
We are friends together
This is a start
And we'll go where ever

I'm not here to escape, but Just to feel the breeze
Feel the wind on my face
And breathe

Here, in my heart
Should I be another
You, after all
Look at me like some other

Oh, what ever we forget now
There's nothing to forgive
Winding down
To let in air

Take the wheel, like you've shown
Take it real slow
Do you feel you're not alone, as you
Take a stage of your own

Here the wind has a flow
But also many streams
You can love who you lose
And everyone it keeps
We're not here to escape but
Just to catch a breeze
Feel the wind shape the tree inside of me

Here, in my heart
Should I be another
You, after all
Look at me like some other

#LastSummerofUs
@TheBookshopBand